A message from Ray Coster

On the cover of this brochure is a little boy called Blessing. Due to bilateral cataracts, Blessing struggled to learn. He could not read, he could not write. But thankfully, a cbm funded partner heard about Blessing, and he was taken to hospital to remove his cloudy cataracts. A 12-minute operation completely transformed Blessing's young life.

By leaving a gift in your Will to cbm, you are partnering with God to help more children like Blessing. You will continue to restore hope where hope is lost, and transform the lives of the disabled and the disadvantaged, the marginal and the vulnerable. That is a rich blessing, because that is so close to the heart of God.

After you have provided for your own loved ones, would you consider leaving a gift in your Will to the mission of cbm? My wife Judy and I have decided that we will leave a gift in our Will, and I invite you to join us as we look to the future of helping people around the world.

Thank you for your support, and may God bless you.

Ray Coster, former Board Member and Confirmed Bequestor of cbm New Zealand

"Remember cbm in your Will and leave a legacy that changes lives! I have."

Blessing's Miracle Gift of Sight

When Blessing was just a baby in Uganda, his father died. Then Blessing began to show the first signs of being blind with cataracts. This was too much for his mother, who abandoned him, and disappeared when he was just six months old.

Unable to see clearly, Blessing memorised the narrow track to school, knowing that education was his one chance to escape poverty. Yet he was stuck in the 'baby class', because he could not see anything on the board or in books.

Other children hardly ever played with him, they just excluded him, teased him, and called him names because he could not see.

But thanks to generous supporters like you, he did not stay like that. Blessing was found by a cbm-funded partner, and taken to hospital where he received life-changing cataract surgery to restore his sight. Since he was blind for so long, he also needed glasses. His grandmother could never afford any of this, but because of generous cbm supporters like you, this was made possible.

Today, Blessing can see his way to school like other children. He has caught up on his classes, and he has made new friends. His future is bright, and free from the double disadvantage of poverty and disability. This is the difference a gift in your Will can make.

Thanks to people like you,
Blessing's future is clear.

He has received the miracle gift of sight.

But there are many more children who need your help.

Do you have the Will to help them?

"...I have come into this world, so that the blind will see." - Jesus, John 9:39

Your Will is important!

Not everyone in New Zealand makes a Will – yet writing a Will is often simple, quick and inexpensive!

Having a Will is important because it ensures that your assets will be distributed the way you choose them to be.

This means that you can provide for the people you love. And when you remember cbm in your Will, you can give a gift that helps more people than is possible during your lifetime.

This is because your legacy gift can allow cbm to make long-term plans, and invest in cost-effective programs that reach people most in need. Your legacy will be bringing help to the world's most vulnerable children, long into the future.

By leaving a Gift in your Will...

Imagine the joy of being able to see again after years of blindness. Or of seeing your child able to walk without pain for the first time, thanks to clubfoot surgery.

A Gift in your Will will change lives forever, and continue making a difference for generations to come.

A Gift in your Will could help...

- Give the miracle of sight to people who are needlessly blinded by cataracts
- Enable children with disabilities to go to school
- Protect a village against blinding Neglected Tropical Diseases such as River Blindness
- Heal women who suffer from obstetric fistula so they can be welcomed home, and cherished by their family and friends

- Train medical experts, surgeons, teachers, and community workers to reach more people with disabilities
- Equip people with livelihood skills, and experience to live independently

Remember them, and they will remember you forever.

You need give only what you can freely give, after your loved ones are taken care of.

“Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of the Lord your God which He has given you.” - Deuteronomy 16:17

John 1:5 Society

Leaving a legacy of love, hope & healing.

Your faithful compassion and support over the years have been a rich blessing, and so close to the heart of God.

When you decide to leave a gift in your Will to cbm New Zealand, we would love to honour your decision, by including you as a valued member of cbm's John 1:5 Society.

The John 1:5 Society name comes from the Bible verse, which reminds us that Jesus came to be the eternal light, and that we are also called to be the light to our broken world:

“The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it.”

As a society member you will be invited to special events, either in person or online, to hear from cbm's leadership, partner organisations, and frontline field workers.

“The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it.”

– John 1:5

Why your Will to help is needed

In developing countries people with disabilities, like Masu, are often unable to access basics like health care, nutrition, sanitation and education. They can also be excluded from jobs and community life.

Without these opportunities, people with disabilities often fall deeper into poverty – and become more vulnerable to illnesses that can lead to further disability.

The cycle of poverty and disability is hard to escape. A Gift in your Will will continue this vital work for generations to come.

How to include cbm in your Will

Thank you for considering leaving a gift in your Will to cbm.

As Wills can be complex, it's always best to have advice from a solicitor or trustee company. They can ensure the right legal processes are followed in line with your wishes, to ensure your gift goes where you intend.

If you would like to make a difference to help people with disabilities in the world's poorest places, you can use the wording on the following page.

After making sure family and friends are taken care of, there is comfort in knowing that your legacy lives on.

Ways to leave a Gift in your Will

As a simple guide, you can take the following examples of wording to your legal advisor:

1 RESIDUARY

This is where you give what is left in your estate to cbm after all estate debts, and expenses are met, and your family has been looked after. It's the simplest and most effective way to support cbm.

"I give my residuary estate to Christian Blind Mission International (New Zealand), Charities Commission Registration Number CC26154, of Unit B, 112 Bush Road, Albany, Auckland 0632, for its general purposes.

I also declare that the receipt of the authorised officer for the time being of the organisation shall be a full and sufficient discharge to my executors/trustees."

2 PERCENTAGE

You can leave a percentage of your estate to cbm. This gives longevity to your Will as your gift will keep pace with inflation and the overall value of your estate.

"I give (insert percentage) % of my residuary estate to Christian Blind Mission International (New Zealand), Charities Commission Registration Number CC26154, of Unit B, 112 Bush Road, Albany, Auckland 0632, for its general purposes.

I also declare that the receipt of the authorised officer for the time being of the organisation shall be a full and sufficient discharge to my executors/trustees."

3 SPECIFIC GIFT

This is where you give cbm a specific sum of money or specific property such as real estate or an item of value (such as a painting or insurance policy). This bequest will only take place if you own the asset at the date of your death.

"I give (specific assets such as real estate, shares, etc, or specific sum of money) to Christian Blind Mission International (New Zealand), Charities Commission Registration Number CC26154 of Unit B, 112 Bush Road, Albany, free of all duties and encumbrances for its general purposes.

I also declare that the receipt of the authorised officer for the time being of the organisation shall be a full and sufficient discharge to my executors/trustees."

Note: cbm New Zealand's legal name is Christian Blind Mission International (New Zealand).

Victoria's Dignity has been Restored

At just 22 years old, Victoria lost five babies in five years to miscarriages and stillbirths.

If that wasn't enough, after the traumatic birth of her fifth baby, she suffered from obstetric fistula, which occurs when the baby becomes stuck in the birth canal, tearing a hole and causing incontinence.

This must have been devastating. At the same time Victoria was grieving her fifth child, she had to deal with a debilitating health condition – one that could easily be resolved if she was living in the developed world.

Forced to live with this unbearable health condition, Victoria became isolated and could not leave the house because she smelt and constantly leaked urine. She suffered abuse, discrimination and self-doubt.

Yet one thing kept Victoria going – she knew there was an operation that could reverse this hugely distressing health problem.

She never lost her faith in God. She prayed alone at night for God to heal her from fistula.

By leaving a gift in your Will, more mothers like Victoria will be welcomed home, and cherished by their husbands, family and friends.

Thanks to people like you,
Victoria's future is secure.

Her dignity has been restored.

But there are more mothers who need your help.

Do you have the Will to help them?

“As for me, I watch in hope for the Lord, I wait for God my Saviour; my God will hear me.” - Micah 7:7

USEFUL WILL DEFINITIONS

Will: The document in which you specify who is to administer your estate (see Executor) and who is to receive your assets upon your death.

Bequest: A direction in your Will to leave a gift (money, real estate or other assets) to a specific person, organisation or charity. Also sometimes called a legacy.

Probate: The process whereby your executor ‘proves’ that your Will is your final, valid Will. It involves an application to the Supreme Court for a ‘grant of probate’ which, once received, formally authorises your executor to act on behalf of your estate and enables them to deal with your assets in accordance with your Will.

Codicil: A document that amends, rather than replaces. A codicil may add or revoke small provisions, or may completely change gifts given under your Will.

Executor: This is the person (or trustee company) who you appoint in your Will to act on behalf of your estate after your death to ensure that your assets are distributed in accordance with your Will.

Beneficiary: Any person, organisation or charity who stands to receive something from your estate.

Residuary estate: The remainder of your estate after your debts are paid, estate expenses are met and gifts in your Will are made.

TYPES OF BEQUESTS:

- Percentage or fractional part: A gift expressed as a percentage or a fractional part of your residuary estate.
- Specific: Giving a specified item, such as real estate, shares or personal chattels.
- Pecuniary: A gift of a sum of money.
- Whole estate: Giving your entire estate is usually done when there are no other preferred beneficiaries, or by those wanting to achieve something very significant with their legacy.

YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Do I need help to write my will?

We suggest you seek the advice of a solicitor or trustee company to ensure your Will is legally sound. The wording of your Will is important, so please refer to page 10 of this booklet when including cbm in your Will. We would also love to help you, and invite you to contact our friendly team personally on 0800 77 22 64.

When should I write my Will?

If you do not have a Will, it is recommended that you write one as soon as possible. You should also update your existing Will whenever your circumstances change – such as when you retire or when a grandchild is born.

Can I choose a specific area of cbm’s work?

To ensure your Will is able to help people most in need, we ask that you keep your bequest quite general. We will fulfil your wishes to the best of our ability, in accordance with our mandate to improve the quality of life of people living with disability in the world’s poorest countries.

Who should my executors be?

Being an executor is an important personal responsibility that can be time consuming and require complex decisions. It is wise to consider a professional and independent executor, to minimise the burden on your family and friends at a difficult time.

Leaving a Gift to cbm in my Will

While an unexpected gift is wonderful, you will help cbm even more by informing us of your intentions to leave a legacy. Not only does it help us with planning for the future, it ensures we can thank you appropriately.

- ☐ I/We have already included cbm in my/our Will/s.
- ☐ I/We intend to leave a legacy of hope to cbm in my/our Will/s.
- ☐ I/We would like the opportunity to speak to someone at cbm about leaving a legacy of hope to cbm in my/our Will/s.
